SENATE TO FIGHT PACT

League of Nations Battle Looms.

Burning Discussions Scheduled Over Ratification of Wilson's World Plan.

Features Declared to Trench on American Sovereignty, Peril Monroe Doctrine.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Whether the United States shall become a member of the League of Nations proposed in the constitution submitted to the Peace Conference by President Wilson today and whether the United States shall ratify without modification a peace treaty providing for such a league are questions destined to become subjects of burning discussion in Congress.

While the provision for reduction and regulation of armament and many features of the league constitution appeal widely to legislators of all parties, it is already apparent that the attention of the people will be called to other sections which raise these questions:

Has the President agreed to sacrifice American rights and duties exercised under the Monroe Doctrine? Is the United States willing to contribute warships and armaments to disputes in the Eastern Hemisphere and permit European and Asiatic nations to send forces to control the republics of the Western Hemisphere?

Is it possible that the operation of the league's judicial machinery would result in invasion of the sovereignty of the United States in the matter, for example, of the right to exclude immigrants by race? NOT WILSON'S PLAN.

One of the most interesting revelations of the publication of the text of the league constitution is that it is not the work of President Wilson but is almost identically the embodiment of the plan formulated by Gen. Duffell, Minister of Defense for the Union of South Africa, and member of the British war council, which he made public on December 14, 1918.

While informal discussion of the project endorsed by the President has been going on for some time, it is not until now that the facts upon the interests of the United States will be immediately in the Senate it is possible that Mr. Wilson will set a formal endorsement of the plan by the treaty ratifying body which he can carry back to Paris in March.

Senator Lewis, Democratic whip of the Senate, went to the White House, conferred with Secretary Duffell, who is in immediate contact with the President by cable, and returning to the capital, stated a resolution endorsing the league constitution would be introduced in the Senate immediately after by himself or some other administration supporter.

TO SWAMP LEGISLATION. ## SOUTHLAND TOURISTS' REFUGE FROM STORMS.

STANDING ROOM ONLY. HOTELS' PREDICAMENT. WINTER INFLUX OF VISITORS IS PUTTING ACCOMMODATIONS AT PREMIUM.

An average of 1000 persons a day are coming to Los Angeles to escape the cold and frosts of the East. Hotel accommodations here are at a premium. Reservations are made weeks ahead and by 5 o'clock each day the innkeepers commence to hang out the S.R.O. sign.

A stranger happens to come into town with his bags and baggage late in the evening with the hope of getting himself a berth for the night, stands only a slight chance. He is jostled from one hotel to another, and when the winter hour of midnight approaches, often his only alternative is to apply to the watchman at Pershing Square to hunt a room and bath at some second-rate lodging-house.

About 300 persons a day make inquiries for rooms at the Alexander. Perhaps one-half of them are accommodated. The rest of them put in their application for a room in the night, stands only a slight chance. He is jostled from one hotel to another, and when the winter hour of midnight approaches, often his only alternative is to apply to the watchman at Pershing Square to hunt a room and bath at some second-rate lodging-house.

By the way, the Alexander admits that he never before has made so much money in tips and all that. They are literally besieged with bags and suit cases, with an occasional Pompadour thrown in.

The 550 rooms at the Clark go less than half way around each day, and the clerks commence to put in their application for a room in the night, stands only a slight chance. He is jostled from one hotel to another, and when the winter hour of midnight approaches, often his only alternative is to apply to the watchman at Pershing Square to hunt a room and bath at some second-rate lodging-house.

STORM TIES RAIL TRAINS

Drifts Formed by Fifty-Mile Gale.

Sleet, Snow Driven by High Wind Isolate Vast Areas in Kansas, Nebraska.

Railroads, Telegraph, Telephone Service Halted by Winter Blast.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.] CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Snow and sleet driven before a fifty-mile gale continued for the past three days have featured the worst blizzard reported in years in the Middle West. Reports tonight state that Nebraska, Kansas and Dakota points are completely cut off from outside news. Railways are blocked by snow reported five feet deep on the level and completely blinding deep cuts through which the tracks are laid. Telegraph and telephone service was interrupted in the storm center. Poles and wires were down for long distances, where weather conditions prevented linemen from repairing the breaks. For several hours at different periods of the past three days, the western part of the country has been entirely cut off from the west. Arrangements were made whereby at times messages could be sent from Chicago to Los Angeles by routing the messages through Canada or through Southern Texas lines.

BAROMETER DROPS. The storm continued tonight with unabated fury in Nebraska and Kansas. The lowest barometric pressure experienced in the Southwest in thirty years was reported last night, with the fifty-mile gale sweeping over Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and parts of Missouri. Snow continued to fall in the afternoon. Kearney, Neb., reported snow five feet deep on a level and Hastings reported the same conditions prevailing. Telegraph and telephone wires in that section were down in every direction.

The Burlington railroad received a report from its division superintendent at Lincoln stating: "A fifty-five mile gale is blowing at Aurora and snow is drifting badly." Weather forecasts issued at Kansas City assert the storm is nearing its end, and that colder temperatures will prevail. Railroad, telegraph and telephone service in Kansas and Nebraska are demoralized and it is expected to take several weeks to complete all repairs made necessary by the storm. The heavy sleet falling on wires broke down long sections of the lines and the wind blew down the poles when their supports were gone.

FIFTY MILES WIDE. The severe storm center appeared about fifty miles wide, the area running from south to north across the country forming a divide between the Rocky Mountain district and the Mississippi Valley region. Dense reports of all trains on the Union Pacific, Rock Island

The book was published. The mystery never closed. It was located by the Washington Post on August 1, 1914, at a dinner in Berlin. The book was purportedly taken from the desk of Sir von von Helldorf, German Ambassador to the German Empire.

"We must refuse to be taken to a world conference," said the Hungarian newspaper, "and the world must be prepared to face the consequences."

Prof. von Schlegel's book, however, never revealed the truth of the dispatch, and it was included in the official publication of the document was the "The Kaiser and his half-brother," and the Chancellor Michael von Kautsky, who Germany was having to Russia mobilized the German Empire, Germany was having to the war.

ROCK PILE FOR ALL L.W.W.

Warns Seattle Agitators Away; Small Riot at Harbor.

Mayor Woodman stands firmly behind Chief of Police Butler in his action to Seattle L.W.W. trouble-makers to stay away from Los Angeles by the following statement by the Mayor: "The L.W.W. may count on the fullest support from the city government in preventing any attempted Bolshevik trouble in this city. If these agitators come here from Seattle thinking that they can create disorder and get away with it because they believe we are afraid of them, they are mistaken. As Chief Butler says, 'We have a rock pile for all L.W.W.'"

UNEARNED WAR CROSS REMOVED.

Military Police Chief Strips it from Chest of Soldier Who Bought It.

The proper place for a Croix de Guerre that was not earned is in the hands of some other place out of sight and not in full view of the admiring public.

This was the substance of more or less fatherly advice given by Maj. D. G. Richard, head of the Camp Kearny military police, to a discharged soldier who purchased the cross.

The man was brought in by Sgt. Allan Ralridge, a Los Angeles policeman, just out of the army, and told of the cross before Maj. Richard.

After the man's admissions that he was not officially decorated for valor, and that he bought the cross from a French soldier, it was stripped off his chest and returned to him with appropriate instructions.

Doctor's Wife Reports Being Held up in Home.

Fourth Theft of Husband's Narcotics, She Says.

Police Fail to Find Trace of the Man Described.

Police detectives are investigating the strange circumstances surrounding the reported theft of quantities of narcotics from the home of Dr. P. Harold Sunde of 744 North Hollywood drive.

Yesterday Mrs. Sunde reported to the police that she was held up at the point of a revolver by a man who entered her home and demanded morphine. After he had compelled her to obtain some heroin for him from the physician's medicine chest, he left her gagged and tied to a chair, she said.

When her 16-year-old son, Harold, ran home from school at noon with a Valentine for his mother, he was met by his mother, who had been gagged and tied to a chair, she said.
